78 yr. old deaf trapper missing in bush near Fort Irwin

HALIBURTON — A massive search has been underway in Harburn Township over the last four days, for a 78 year old deaf Haliburton man lost in the bush, 1½ miles north of Fort Irwin.

Grenville Dart was reported missing to Minden OPP on Saturday. During the day, Mr. Dart picked up a trapper's license and at 12:30 p.m. left his home heading for the southern half of Harburn Township.

On Sunday and Monday, OPP officers, civilians, the OPP helicopter and the District 7 Canine Dept. of Barrie searched more than 2,000 acres of the township where the man supposedly disappeared, without coming up with a trace.

The Express talked to Minden Detachment Commander, Sgt. William Bailey, and he said that the bush is so dense in places that the entire area was going to be searched again. "With the leaves as thick as they are, it is virtually impossible to see anything from the air, so the helicopter was not sent up on Monday, he said. It was however, up all day Saturday and the lakes and shorelines were searched completely.

The more than a 100 searchers who have spent hours looking in this area, have been searching in a grid pattern. Sgt. Bailey explained this, saying that a block of bush is searched in a checkerboard pattern. However, the bush is so dense this time of year that he feels that even with the thorough search that has been conducted to date, a man could still be missed.

Sgt. Bailey also stated that he is very apprehensive as to the man still being alive, as the weather conditions have been very severe and Mr. Dart could have died from exposure.

With the rain that has fallen in the area and the dozens of searchers who have been tracking through the bush over the past four days it was impossible to use the tracking dogs so they have returned to Barrie.

Corporal Darcy Stevens is the investigating officer from the Minden Detachment and the search is continuing as of press time.

Gas price hikes hit Haliburton consumers, 1.5 cents a litre

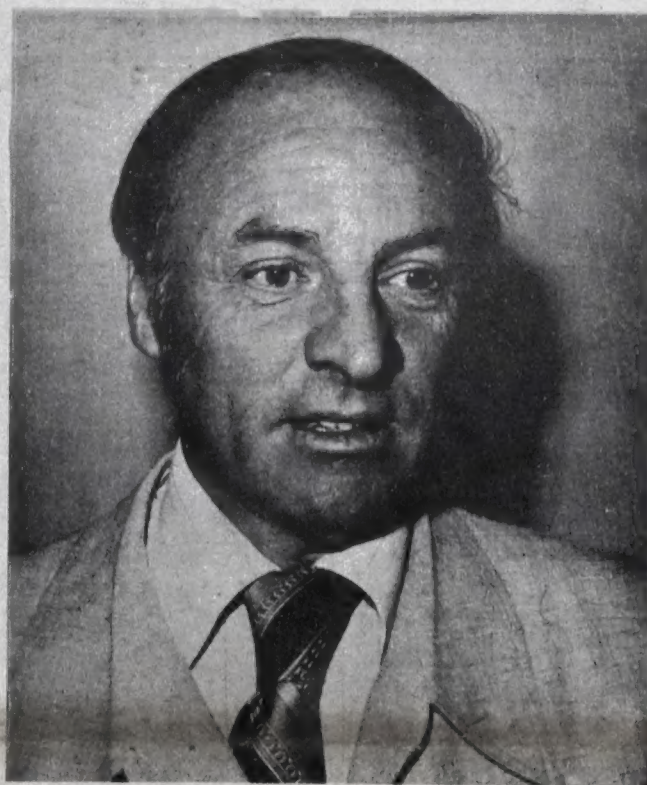

HALIBURTON — Petroleum price hikes of some 1.5 cents a litre by the large gas companies have now been passed on to Haliburton consumers.

The hikes reflects a well head increase of $2.00 a barrel, in crude oil, approved by the federal government. Last Monday marked the end of a 60 day waiting period established so there would be no advantage in selling lower priced stock, at the new level.

By now, almost all of the counties gas stations have passed the increase along. A spokesman for Gulf oil said earlier this week, "it is a wholesale price increase, but we don't control the price the dealer sells it at. An increase in cost is usually reflected in the price. It is tough to do business any other way."

Gulf, Canada's second largest oil company, has raised the price of gasoline and diesel fuel by 1.8 cents a litre. Heating oil will jump two cents a litre.

Imperial Oil Limited the largest integrated oil company in Canada, also has the largest increase. Their gasoline and diesel fuel will go up two cents a litre while heating oil will rise 1.8 cents.

Minden, Stanhope, Lutterworth

Along with millions of other Canadians across Ontario, Haliburton County voters will go to the polls on November 10 to pick their municipal councillors and school board representatives for the next two years.

In many cases, like the 1978 election, it will simply be a question of filling out the slates that already include offices filled by acclamation. In yet others though, virtually every seat or at least the majority are up for grabs.

Anson, Hindon and Minden for instance, could have as many as three new councillors, as two have decided to step down from municipal politics while the third is still undecided: Len Lonsberry, a member of council for the past four years will be leaving for health reasons while Stuart Brandon just completing his first term is leaving due to business. Lyle McKnight, the third member has yet to declare his position.

The candidates holding the two top positions have both decided to run again. Reeve Nesbitt, finishing his first term and Deputy-Reeve Doug Pritchard have both declared their intentions on running again. As of Monday there was just one newcomer about to enter the political arena and that is Leroy Lichty owner of the Brown Owl Restaurant on the bypass. Mr. Lichty will seek election to AHM council.

Anson, Hindon and Minden's representatives on the county school board are Lloyd Johnson and Don Booth. Both men have yet to say whether they will seek re-election again this fall.

Lutterworth Township appears to be running very smoothly with all council members, reeve and Sunoco, will jump 1.6 and 1.4 cents a litre for gasoline and diesel, and heating oil, respectively. British Petroleum have instituted a 1.5 cents a litre increase across the board.

Reeves to stand for re-election deputy reeve running again. They are Reeve Ron Gambell, Deputy-Reeve Glynne Lewis and councillors Bill Valentine, Allan Stott and Bill Prentice. School Board rep Cheryl Murdoch has also decided to seek re-election.

Stanhope Township will have all but one of their councillors running for office on November 10th. Roger Wood, a newcomer to council in 1978 has decided to step down due to business pressures.

As for the rest of council, Reeve Jim Harrison, Deputy-Reeve Elgin Stouffer and councillors Elvin Johnson and Harry Davis will all seek re-election.

Two Stanhope residents have declared an interest in running for council to date. They are Ann Barker and Dale MacDonald with a possible third person entering the race, Penny Googh.

Leroy Eager and Dorothy Kinsman will both seek re-election as Stanhope's representatives to the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Next week The Express will take a look at the townships of Dysart, Monmouth and Glamorgan to report on events in those communities.

If you were born this week: You're exuberant, optimistic and love life. Tact is not your greatest asset; you tend to blurt out the truth without thinking first. You'll go anywhere anytime and cherish your independence. Woe to anyone who tries to make you punch a time clock!

ARIES (3-21/4-19): The new moon in your sign brings shining personal opportunities. Aries. You can be your own best resource; use your talents to their fullest. Contact others who can be helpful, too. And enjoy your birthday, sweetheart!

TAURUS (4-20/5-20): A private worry eases as you find a solution to it. Taurus. Energy is on the upswing; get out and see people. You can clean house later! Make a deposit and welcome your special season more about that next week!

GEMINI (5-21/6-20): Friendship, group activities and your goals are all highlighted. Think about joining a special interest club; one that will expand your creativity. Later, you're at your charming best as days flit to flirty fun, Gem.

MOONCHILD (6-21/7-22): You don't have to like someone well to learn something from him. This week one of your least favorite cohorts teaches you a valuable lesson. Cut and polish this diamond in the rough, Moonbaby, for your own asset.

LEO (7-23/8-22): Investigate and research, Leo. Go to the source. Second-hand knowledge contains inaccuracies. Later, a new challenge appears on your horizon, with a chance for significant advancement. Week ends on key of B, for boogie.

VIRGO (8-23/9-22): Your flexibility is put to the test in week ahead, Virgo. You'll be much more successful as a limber willow than as a rigid oak, angel. Days continue with romance and relaxation, then shift to a juggling contest.

LIBRA (9-23/10-23): Stimulating associate could offer partnership. Accept, Libby; it's likely to be very good for both of you. Think twice about a later proposal. It's apt to be more work than you suppose. Week hops to happy halt.

SCORPIO (10-24/11-22): You already have your hands full when a new project comes along. Luckily, Scorpio, a willing newcomer stands by to lend a helping hand. Watch this relationship; it's apt to really take off. Calls close days.

SAGITTARIUS (11-23/12-21): Cupid shoots a bulls-eye and a certain creative endeavor deserves your best efforts, Sag. Later, things come in twos: People, powwows and parties. Don't get so busy you ignore obligations; they won't forget you!

CAPRICORN (12-22/1-19): Wouldn't you know it, Cappy! Just as you finish one job, a new one seems to materialize out of thin air. This one should add a peacock feather to your cap, so smile, sweetie! Days pop to brash and noisy ending.

AQUARIUS (1-20/2-19): Your personal magnetism and self-confidence are at a peak. Aquari. Speak out. Gain your allies and further your goals. Sky's the limit, babe! Later, romance continues your week on a high note to 'fiesty' finale.

 Canadian
Red Cross
Mainstream
Canada*Paid more to

By W. Roger Worth

Two years ago the federal and provincial governments agreed to the principle of comparability between civil service salaries and those paid in the private sector.

The reason the discussion came up at all? Incomes earned by bureaucrats and civil servants in many job categories were running well ahead of those paid by business. In fact, because public sector employees are highly organized, they have been able to negotiate wage settlements that are many times well above those in the private sector.

Roger Worth is Director,
Public Affairs,
Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

The overall effect of this ridiculous situation was to provide an incentive for productive workers in industry to join the vast army of civil servants.

Nothing much has changed in the period since the governments accepted the principle of comparability with the private sector. Many salaries and benefits paid to public sector employees are still above those in industry.

At the same time, Canada's auditor-general claims civil servants are only working at 60% of their capacity. Even if the auditor-general's assessment is only half right, Canadian taxpayers are being taken for an expensive ride indeed.

Civil servants are being paid more to produce less than the private sector counterpart, putting the cart before the horse.

Somewhat, governments must find ways to rate the work habits and productivity of public servants, particularly as they compare to similar jobs in the private sector.

It makes little sense to create an incentive for a trained craftsman to become a postman, especially when Canada faces a dire shortage of skilled trades people.

Lions Club donates lights

CARDIFF — The ball diamond at Cardiff will be ablaze with lights next year, thanks to the King City Lions Club.

The club has just donated 21 flood lights at an approximate cost of $2,100 for use at the Cardiff ballfield.

It was through the efforts of Mel Atkins, a member of the club in King City (near Aurora) as well as a summer resident of Paudash Lake that the lights were donated.

The King City ball diamond had their lights replaced recently, leaving the old ones in storage.

When he became aware of the need for lights at Cardiff, Mr. Atkins went back to his club with the proposal of donating the used lights.

As soon as the poles are installed in the spring, baseball action for fans in Cardiff will continue after dark.

Ontario Energy Corporation Initiates Mineral Exploration Program in the James Bay Lowlands

The Ontario energy Corporation recently released details of its exploration program in the James Bay Lowlands area. 120 kilometres (75 miles) north of Timmins. The Corporation has been awarded a three year exploratory licence under the Mining Act by the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources. Malcolm Rowan, President of the Energy Corporation revealed.

More than 3.75 million acres in the Cretaceous Basin north and south of the Mississauga River was re-opened to exploration last March 1979 by the Ministry of Natural Resources after the Ontario

Geological Survey had examined the area for its energy-producing potential. The Ontario Energy Corporation will be exploring for lignite and other minerals in the southern portion of the basin, an area of approximately 1.5 million acres.

Approximately $300,000 will be spent by the Corporation on preliminary geological investigations. The Corporation is considering a joint venture approach to the program and is seeking participants. An expanded exploration program in the order of $3 million is envisaged.

"The James Bay Lowlands area offers considerable potential for increasing Ontario's indigenous energy supply capability", Mr. Rowan stated. "The more we produce in this Province, the more control we have over price and supply", he added.

The Ontario Energy Corporation is the primary energy investment vehicle for the Province of Ontario. The role of the Corporation is to encourage private sector investment in energy projects which implement provincial energy policy.

Redmen meet Trojans today

HALIBURTON — The biggest game of the season will be played this afternoon at HHSS school gridiron. Undeclared Lindsay Trojans will meet the first place Haliburton Redmen in a four point game. The winner will take sole possession of first place. If the Redmen win this game, they will clinch the league championship for the second year running. Haliburton will have to come up with an outstanding two-way performance if they hope to knock off the powerful Trojans, who have won their first two games very impressively over Fenelon Falls Falcons and the Brock Bulldogs. Ron Yake, the Redmen quarterback-punter-placekicker, seen above booting the only point of the game last week against Brock, will be a big factor in this contest. This is Ron's first year as starting quarterback for the Sr. Redmen and he has improved in every outing this season. Today's match will be his making. The Jr. Varsity Redmen will also play the junior Trojans this afternoon at 4 pm, the seniors take to the field at 2 pm.

Hal. Huskies will play 34 games in Junior C loop

HALIBURTON — With the withdrawal of the Bancroft Jets, the Lakefield Chiefs and the Rice Lake Rangers of the Junior D hockey league at the end of last season, the Haliburton Huskies sought another hockey league in which to play this year. That league will be the Central Ontario Jr. C loop.

The Huskies opened the season on Friday evening in Haliburton against Parry Sound.

The new league means a great deal more travelling for the Huskies and a much higher calibre of hockey, which should bring that much more enjoyment to the local hockey fans. The Huskies will be facing teams from Parry Sound, Huntsville, Midland, Oro, Gravenhurst, Penetang and Bracebridge.

The following is the Huskie schedule for the 1980-81 season. Good luck in your first year at this new Jr C level of competition.

Consider some of the reasons for buying a Pioneer wood stove:

- low density firebrick to retain heat for more complete combustion;
- preheated primary and secondary air to reduce the amount of hot air required from the fire for combustion;
- a baffle plate to create more heat retention for a cleaner burn;
- a convection system which reflects heat downward at the front of the stove and an optional fan to stimulate air circulation;
- cast iron doors with vycor glass which withstands temperatures over 2100°F and tends to self clean at 700°F;
- solid 1/4" steel construction;
- an 8" top or back flue;
- brass handles, hinge pins and identification plate for a look of elegance;
- humidifier trays for a healthier heat;
- double walled back for safety and convection system;
- 10 year guarantee on workmanship and all metal construction.

Pioneer plane stay extended at Ontario North Now exhibit

A historic firefighting aircraft of Ontario government's air fleet will remain part of the Ministry of Northern Affairs exhibit at Toronto's Ontario Place until the end of September.

The de Havilland C.2 piston-engined Beaver, designated CF-OBS, has just been retired after 33 years of active operations. It was originally loaned to the new Ontario North Now exhibit for the 20-day period of the Canadian National Exhibition which ends on September 1.

"The aircraft has been such a popular feature, we have agreed that it may be kept at the waterfront exhibit until the end of next month," said Len Sleeman, director of the Ministry of Natural Resources' Aviation and Fire Management Centre.

In early October, the historic Beaver will be moved to its permanent home at the Ontario Science Centre in Toronto.

During the Exhibition and the following September weeks at Ontario Place, thousands of visitors will be able to see the aircraft, complete with water-bombing roll tanks still installed on its pontoons.

"OBS" was the second production model off the de Havilland line and the first of 25 acquired by Ontario's former Department of Lands and Forests for forest firefighting and other duties.

The government order was instrumental in getting this aircraft into production and subsequently accepted by 60 countries including the United States, as a sturdy, versatile plane. No fewer than 1,650 of these aircraft were built and put into service.

At the Ontario Science Centre, to which the Ministry of Natural Resources has donated CF-OBS, the aircraft will be exhibited in the Hall of Engineering.

New exhibits on aircraft engineering and flight are being developed at the Science Centre to go with the Beaver. Visitors should be able to see the Beaver in its new and final home by November.

In its 33 years with the Ontario government's air fleet, "OBS" took part in many firefighting operations, as well as performing such duties as moose surveys, timber cruising, aerial photography for mapping and resource inventory, cargo delivery to remote outposts, and mercy flights for the sick and the disabled.

The late Frank MacDougall, the "flying Deputy Minister" of the former Department of Lands and Forests, often piloted the aircraft during the 1940s and 1950s on his frequent trips to remote parts of the province where his staff were on duty.

One former Lands and Forests pilot, John Lamont, is now working as an air engineer for MNR. He remembers flying the "OBS" often.

"In the old days we flew seven days a week all summer long, and I didn't mind a bit because I was in love with flying. "OBS" was a little faster than "OBB," the next Beaver to arrive — its 450 h.p. piston engine would do 118 m.p.h. to CF-OBB's 108 m.p.h.," he said.

"Performance was the main quality of this Beaver," Lamont said. "It was able to get in and out of smaller lakes that earlier aircraft could not. And the Beaver was easier to maintain than the fabric aircraft then in our fleet."

As recently as last month, "OBS" was used for water-bombing missions in the Sudbury area. To come to Toronto for the CNE, it was flown from its MNR base at Sault Ste. Marie.

The final trip from its current Ontario Place site to the Ontario Science Centre in Don Mills is planned to be made by truck up the Don Valley Parkway in early October.
